LOK SABHA

The following Bills were introduced in Lok Sabha on the 10th May, 1985:---

BILL No. 57 of 1985

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Thirty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 1985.

Short

- 2. Article 130 of the Constitution shall be re-numbered as clause (1) thereof and after clause (1) as so re-numbered, the following clause shall be added, namely:—
- Amendment of article 130.
- "(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of clause (1), a Bench of the Supreme Court shall be appointed to sit in Bangalore, and such of the Judges of the Supreme Court, being not less than five in number, as the Chief Justice of India may, from time to time nominate, shall sit in Bangalore with jurisdiction over and the law administered in the High Courts in the States of Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Kerala and Tamil Nadu.".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The seat of the Supreme Court of India is in Delhi. There has been a public demand as is evidenced from the questions raised in Parliament for the establishment of a Bench of the Supreme Court in the southern region of India. This demand has been voiced in view of the tremendous problems being faced by thousands of litigants coming from the southern region comprising Kerala, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh. The enormous amount of money that the litigants from these States have to spend by way of travel expenses, lodging, etc. and the time involved in coming and staying in Delhi underscores the urgency to provide them some relief. Moreover, it is the declared objective of the Government to provide cheap and speedy justice to the people.

Article 730 of the Constitution enables the Chief Justice of India to appoint the place or places of sittings of the Supreme Court other than Delhi. In view of the difficulties being experienced by the people from the southern region, it is very essential to establish a permanent Bench of the Supreme Court in the south. This need of the people has to be given legislative effect.

Hence this Bill,

NEW DELHI; February 2, 1985. P. J. KURTEN

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill provides for the establishment of a Bench of the Supreme Court at Bangalore. The Bill, if enacted, will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. The recurring expenditure is likely to be around rupees five lakhs and non-recurring expenditure at our rupees two and a half lakhs.

Bill No.-87 of 1985

A Bill to provide for the establishment of a permunent Bench of the High Court at Calcutta at Siliguri.

Br it enacted by Parliament in the Thirty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the High Court at Calcutta (Establishment of a Permanent Bench at Siliguri) Act. 1985.

2. There shall be established a permanent Bench of the High Court at Calcutta, at Siliguri, and such judges of the High Court at Calcutta, being not less than two in number, as the Chief Justice of that High Court may, from time to time nominate, shall sit at Siliguri in order to exercise the jurisdiction and power for the time being vested in that High Court in respect of cases arising in Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Cooch Behar, West Dinajpur and Malda districts of West Bengal.

Establishment of a permament Bench of the High Court at Calcutta at Siliguri title.

Short

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

There is a dire need for locating a Bench of the High Court at Calcutta at Siliguri for the administration of speedy and cheap justice and for the convenience of the litigant public of the region. The Bill provides for the establishment of such a Bench at Siliguri, which is a central and well connected city in the region.

Hence this Bill.

order, make such adaptations and modifications of the law, whether by way of repeal or amendment, as may be necessary or expedient, and thereupon every such law shall have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications so made until altered, repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority.

Explanation.—In this section, the expression "appropriate Government" means, as respects any law relating to a matter enumerated in the Union List in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution, the Central Government; and as respects any other law, the Government of the State of Goa, Daman and Diu.

28. Notwithstanding that no provision or insufficient provision has been made under section 27 for the adaptation of a law made before the appointed day, any court, tribunal or authority required or empowered to enforce such law may, for the purpose of facilitating its application in relation to the State of Goa, Daman and Diu, construe the law in such manner not affecting the substance as may be necessary or proper in regard to the matter before the court, tribunal or authority, as the case may be.

Power to construe laws.

29. All courts and tribunals and all authorities discharging lawful functions throughout the existing union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu or any part thereof immediately before the appointed day shall, unless their continuance is inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or until other provision is made by a competent Legislature or other competent authority, continue to exercise their respective functions.

Provisions as to continuance at courts,

30. The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therein contained in any other law.

Effect of provisions of Act inconsistent with other laws.

31. (1) If any difficulty arises in giving effect to the provisions of this Act, the President may, by order, do anything not inconsistent with such provisions which appears to him to be necessary or expedient for the purpose of removing the difficulty.

Power to remove diffi-culties.

- (2) Every order made under this section shall be laid before each House of Parliament.
- 32. (1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules to give effect to the provisions of this Act.

Power to make rules.

(2) Every rule made under this section shall be laid as soon as may be after it is made before each House of Parliament while it is in Session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one Session or in two successive Sessions, and if, before the expiry of the Session in which it is so laid or the Session immediately following, both Houses agree in making any modification in the rule or both Houses agree that the rule should not be made, the rule shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be; so, however, that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that rule.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The aspiration of the people of Goa, Daman and Diu has all along been to attain full Statehood within the Union. On March 26, 1971, the Union Territory's Legislative Assembly passed a resolution urging the Government to move the Central Government to bring forward immediately necessary legislation to grant Statehood to Goa, Daman and Diu. Most of the Union territories have been granted Statehood. It is in the fitness of things, therefore, that the wishes of the people of Goa, Daman and Diu for Statehood are also fulfilled. The Bill seeks to achieve this object.

NEW DELHI; February 2, 1985. EDUARDO FALEIRO

PRESIDENT'S RECOMMENDATION UNDER ARTICLES 117 AND 274 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF INDIA

[Copy of letter No. S-16017|2|85-SR, dated 25 March, 1985 from Shrimati Ram Dulari Sinha, Minister of State in the Ministry of Home Affairs to the Secretary-General, Lok Sabha.]

The President, having been informed of the subject matter of the Bill by Shri Eduardo Faleiro, M.P., to provide for the establishment of the State of Goa, Daman and Diu and for matters connected therewith, recommends the introduction of the Bill in Lok Sabha under articles 117(1) and 274(1) of the Constitution.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 5 of the Bill provides for the allotment of one seat to the new State in the Council of States. This will involve extra recurring expenditure of about rupees thirty thousand per year on account of salary, allowances, etc. of a member.

- 2. Clause 11 of the Bill seeks to empower the Election Commission to delimit the Assembly Constituencies of the new State of Goa, Daman and Diu. For this purpose a non-recurring expenditure of about rupees ten thousand will have to be incurred from the Consolidated Fund of India.
- 3. As a State, Goa, Daman and Diu will be entitled to a share in the Central taxes which will be determined in pursuance of clause 16 of the Bill. This would augment the States revenue, but a gap between the revenue receipts and expenditure on revenue account may still be left. In the past, the Finance Commission had taken note of such deficits and recommended suitable grants-in-aid under article 275(1) of the Constitution for various States. It is, therefore, proposed to provide for such quantum of grants-in-aid to the new State as may be considered necessary until the recommendations of the next Finance Commission become available, by suitably amending the provisions of Constitution (Distribution of Revenues) Order, 1969, in exercise of the powers sought to be taken under clause 16 of the Bill.
- 4. Clause 23 of the Bill seeks to empower the Central Government to establish one or more Advisory Committees for the purpose of assisting it in regard to the discharge of its functions in relation to allocation of the members of services and ensuring of fair and equitable treatment to all persons affected. An expenditure of about rupees five thousand may have to be incurred from the Consolidated Fund of India on account of travelling allowance of Members of these Committees.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 15 of the Bill enables the President to determine by order the allowances and privileges of the Governor of the new State.

Clause 16 of the Bill empower the President to determine by order the grants-in-aid to the new State and its share of Central Taxes and amend for that purpose the relevant provisions of the Union Duties of Excise (Distribution) Act, 1962, the Additional Duties of Excise (Goods of Special Importance) Act, 1957, the Estate Duty (Distribution) Act, 1962 and the Constitution (Distribution of Revenues) Order, 1969.

Clause 27 of the Bill provides for the adaptation of existing laws to facilitate their application to the new State. The power to adapt is being conferred on the Central Government in the case of laws relating to matters enumerated in the Union List in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution and on the Government of the new State in the case of all other laws.

Clause 32 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules to give effect to the provisions of the Bill when enacted. The rules, if any, will be confined to matters of procedure and other matters of minor detail relating to the enforcement of the various provisions included in the Bill.

The aforementioned provisions are mainly of a consequential nature or pertain to matters of details and procedure. As such, the proposed delegation of legislative powers is of a normal character.

BILL No. 101 of 1985

A Bill to amend the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Central Standing Committee on Rural Unorganised Labour in its meeting held on 9th July, 1980 considered a report submitted by a Sub-Committee headed by Shri B. Bhagwati on bonded labour observed that despite progressive abolition of system of contract labour, there is a possibility of an element of bondage existing amongst contract labour in remote jungle areas. The Committee also accepted that co-ordination between the working of the Inter-State Migrant Workmen (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 1979 and the Bonded Labour System (Abolition) Act, 1976 would have to be effective.

The lacunae existing in the present Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970 have not only defeated the purpose for which the law was enacted, but also have become a hurdle in the way of implementation of the aforesaid two Acts. The present Bill is intended to overcome these lacunae and afford protection to the contract labour which comes from rural unorganised labour, i.e. the poorest and the weakest strata of our society and are often exploited not only by the unscrupulous contractors but also by the so-called enlightened management, including the transactional corporations who are increasingly diverting work of perennial and permanent nature to the contractors.

The lacunae in the Act have also stood in the way of functioning of the Advisory Boards constituted under the Act, as it is seen that many decisions for issue of notifications prohibiting employment of contract labour taken as far back as in December, 1977 are still under consideration of the Government. The Bill also seeks to remove these lacunae.

The principal Act had not provided for any machinery for enforcement and workmen had no opportunity to seek redressal of the violations of the Acts and denial of benefits due to them except through raising industrial disputes. The Bill provides for such opportunities to the workmen so that the question of wages, etc. could be standardised and violations proceeded against. This in-built protection under the Act would become a deterrent to inhuman exploitation of the weakest section of labour force in the country.

BILL No. 99 of 1985

A Bill to provide for reservation of posts in Government services and seats in educational institutions for persons belonging to economically weaker section of people.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Thirty-Sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:

Short title and commencement.

Definitions.

- 1. (1) This Act may be called the Reservation of Posts in Government Services and Seats in Educational Institutions (for Economically Weaker Section of People) Act, 1985.
 - (2) It shall come into force at once.
 - 2. In this Act,-
 - (a) "economically weaker section of people" means a class of persons, irrespective of the caste, whose income from all sources, including the income of the family members, does not exceed five hundred rupees per mensem;
 - (b) "family" means and includes the husband, wife and minor children:
 - (c) "Government services" means services or posts in connection with the affairs of the Union and includes appointments in an undertaking of the Government of India or an undertaking or organisation carrying on any type of activity where fifty-one per cent of its capital has been contributed in any form by the Government of India.

Reservation of posts for economically weaker people. 3. Fifty per cent of the posts in Government services shall be reserved for candidates belonging to economically weaker section of people.

Reservation of seats in educational institutions.

4. Forty per cent of seats in educational institutions, imparting education at a level higher than the senior secondary level, shall be reserved for candidates belonging to economically weaker section of people.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Under the existing rules, reservation of posts in Government services has been made for Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes on the basis of caste. Reservation of seats in educational institutions has also been made on that basis. Scheduled Castes, for whom reservation has been made, are some of the castes notified as such. This basis of reservation is creating hatred and disaffection among the people. The fact is that there are poor people in every class and every caste. No doubt that people of backward classes are very poor but the number of poor in other castes is also quite large. Because of the existing rules, benefit of reservation is not available to these poor people and, therefore, they are unable to raise their standard of living.

In these circumstances, it will be more appropriate if economic condition of people, irrespective of their caste, is made the basis for reservation in public services and educational institutions, etc. Such a provision will benefit the society as a whole as all the persons belonging to economically weaker section of people will have equitable opportunities of raising their standard of living. In fact, the people of backward classes or castes will benefit more if the reservation is made on the basis of economic condition. For example, because of the existing system of reservation on the basis of caste, in case a person belonging to a caste entitled to reservation occupies a high position, even then his family members continue to get all the benefits of reservation, while the very poor persons of that caste are deprived of the benefit of reservation to that extent. This leads to two classes of persons in the same caste. Those who occupy high positions or are otherwise in a better economic condition should not continue to get these benefits. The benefit of reservation should be given only to those remaining people of that community who are poor. But there is no such provision in the existing rules.

It is, therefore, necessary that a law is enacted which may provide that a person belonging to economically weaker section of society, irrespective of his caste, will be entitled to the benefit of reservation. In other words, economic condition of the people should be the basis of reservation in Government services and educational institutions, etc. It will serve two-fold purpose -one, it will eliminate discrimination between the poor belonging to different castes and secondly, only the poor will get the benefit of reservation.

Hence this Bill.

Insertion of new Part IXA.

2. After Part IX of the Constitution, the following Part shall be inserted, namely:—

"PART IXA

PANCHAYAT RAJ

Defini-

- 243. In this Part, unless the context otherwise requires,—
- (i) "Panchayat Raj" means and includes a village Panchayat, a Panchayat or Mandal Samithi and a Zila Parishad;
- (ii) "State" means the Government and the Legislature of each of the States.

I'stablishment of Panchayat Raj Radiea.

- 243A. Each State shall by law establish in the respective State, various Funchayat Raj bodies, namely:—
 - (i) a Zila Parishad for each District consisting of such number of elected and nominated members as may be prescribed;
 - (ii) a Panchayat or Manda) Samith; comprising of such number of village Panchayat; consisting of such number of members as may be prescribed; and

(iii) a village Panchayat consisting of such number of members for a village or villages in the State as may be prescribed.

243E, The members of the Panchayat Raj bodies shall hold office for a period of three years from the date of their election or nomination.

Term of office of mem-bers.

243C. Each Panchayat Raj body shall be a corporate body and shall have perpetual succession and a common seal and shall by the said name sue or be sued.

Panchayat Raj bodies shall be corporate bodies.

243D. The State shall make rules to provide for the machinery for the conduct of elections to the Panchayat Raj bodies in consultation with the Chief Election Commissioner.

tions of Bodies.

- (2) The State shall decentralise the powers and functions of the various bodies at various levels.
- Provisions regarding financial matters and audit.

- 243F. (1) The State may authorise the Panchayat Raj bodies to levy and collect such taxes and fees as may be prescribed under the rules made by the State in this behalf.
- (2) The State shall constitute a Panchayat Raj Fund for each District and shall make rules for the management of such funds.
- (3) The State shall constitute a Finance Commission for the purpose of allocation and distribution of revenues between the State and the Panchayat Raj bodies.
- (4) The Accountant-General of the State shall cause the accounts of the Panchayat Raj bodies audited in such manner as he may deem fit.
- 243G. If at any time the Governor of the State is satisfied that any Panchayat Raj body in the State is not functioning in accordance with the provisions of this part of the Constitution or the law made by the State or the functioning of such body is in any way detrimental to the public interest, he may, by order, suspend or dissolve such body and appoint a Special Officer to exercise the power vested in that body.

Suspension|
dissolution of Panchayat
Raj bodies
by the Governor,

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The time is now ripe for working out the mandate of article 40 of the Constitution. The Panchayat Raj bodies should be reconstituted and revitalised as an organic and integral part of the democratic process and be accorded appropriate constitutional status and recognition.

Apart from the Centre and the States, there should be elected bodies to control the permanent services at the district and lower levels. Democracy at State level and bureaucracy at district and lower levels will endanger the implementation of the ideals of democracy. Therefore the decentralisation of power at the State, district and lower levels has become imperative for the successful functioning of the democratic system of government.

Hence this Bill.

BILL No. 98 of 1985

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Thirty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 1985.

Short title.

2. After article 47 of the Constitution of India, the following article shall be inserted, namely:—

Insertion of new article 47A.

"47A. The State shall take steps to promote family planning measures so that the population growth is commensurate with economic and social development as well as with ecological balance.".

Promotion of family planning.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Despite the family planning programme having been in existence for over thirty years, the drop in the annual increase of population is only marginal. Even in the current Parliamentary and State Legislative Assembly elections, candidates of none of the political parties raised the issue whilst canvassing.

Although the issue is more important than the other 19 listed in Part IV of the Constitution of India which gives Directive Principles of State Policy, family planning does not find a place in it. This is despite the fact that it has been placed in List III—Concurrent List of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution.

The Bill seeks to focus attention of the nation on this issue of grave importance.

BILL No. 112 OF 1985

A Bill further to amend the Minimum Wages Act, 1948.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Thirty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:---

1. This Act may be called the Minimum Wages (Amendment) Act, 1985.

Short title.

11 of 1948.

2. In section 2 of the Minimum Wages Act, 1948 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act), in clause (h), after sub-clause (v), the following sub-clause shall be inserted, namely:—

Amendment of Section 2.

- "(vi) any increase in the dearness allowance paid on the basis of the rise in the price index from time to time."
- 3. In section 22 of the principal Act,—

Amendment of section

- (i) for the words "shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both:", the words "shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term not less than five years or with fine not less than five thousand rupees, or with both" shall be substituted;
 - (ii) the proviso shall be omitted

Amendment of section 22A 4. In section 22A of the principal Act, for the words "be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees", the words "be punishable with fine not less than five thousand rupees," shall be substituted.

Substitution of section 22B.

5. For section 22B of the principal Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

Cognizance of offences. "22B. No court shall take cognizance of a complaint against any person for an offence under clauses (a) and (b) of section 22 and under section 22A unless an application in respect of the facts constituting such offence has been presented under section 20 by the aggrieved employees or the union."

Amendment of section 22C. 6. In section 22C of the principal Act, in sub-section (1) the proviso shall be omitted.

Omission
section

7. Section 22E of the principal Act shall be omitted.

22E.
Omission

8. Section 23 of the principal Act shall be omitted.

section 23.

9. Section 26 of the principal Act shall be omitted.

Omission
of section
26.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The employers are following the practice of denying payment of dearness allowance enhanced by the Government from time to time due to rise in price index by interpreting the definition of wages in the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, in such a manner that the enhancement of rate of dearness allowance is meant only for those who are drawing less than the minimum wage fixed in the region State. Therefore, there is necessity of changing the definition of wages.

The original Act was passed as back as in 1948. Due to tremendous erosion in the money value and the increase in unfair labour practices, the penalties contained in the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, have become redundant and need to be changed.

- 2 Keonjhar District.".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Article 244(2) and Sixth Schedule to the Constitution of India provide for the administration of tribal areas in the States of Assam, Meghalaya and Tripura and creation of autonomous districts in these States, but there is no such constitutional provision for the States of Bihar, Madhya Pradesh and Orissa. Hence the Bill seeks to amend suitably the Constitution by inserting the names of these States in article 244(2) and the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution. The proposed amendment will help in preserving the culture, language and common laws of these areas.

New Delhi; April 6, 1985. PIYUSH TIRKY

BILL No. 106 of 1985

A Bill to promote planned parenthood and for matters connected therewith.

Whereas it is imperative that parenthood be planned to help the State in fulfilling its duty of offering adequate means of livelihood with economic, social, political, equitable and a just order that promises basic civic amenities;

And whereas to achieve it the State has to promote family planning measures so that the population growth is commensurate with economic and social development as well as with ecological balance;

Act to have overriding effect,

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

India's population is about 740 millions today. With 2.4 per cent. of the global land area, India has 15 per cent. of the world population, thereby making it one of the most densely populated nation of the world. Although, family planning has been a national programme since 1952, the average annual population growth rate has actually increased from 1.25 per cent. to 2.20 during the last 33 years, mainly due to the faster decline in the death rate.

It is projected that by the turn of the century, India shall have three out of the ten most populous cities of the world, and half the population of these cities would be living in shuns under squalid conditions. Actually, without massive public contributions for sewerage, water treatment, air-pollution control and perspective planning, living conditions in all urban areas will progressively deteriorate.

An alarming situation is the apathy of the populace to foresee this population explosion time-bomb which is so glaringly reflected in the last elections, Approximately 4000 candidates of all political parties contested elections, but none of them raised this most valid issue while campaignthe Parliamentary elections and around 25,000 the Legislative Assembly elections, but none of them raised this most valid issue while campaigning. How can family planning therefore be called a programme with people's involvement?

To accommodate the future needs and numbers within the nation's natural capabilities and resources has given rise to unparalled transformation of human values, social institutions and economic structures. The break-down of civic amenities due to over-crowding, law and order situation, unemployment and widening of the gap between the haves and have nots has progressively created an explosive situation. Agricultural land holdings are fast becoming small and uneconomical, the needs for housing are far beyond the available finances and educational facilities are hopelessly inadequate to meet with the existing demands let alone the future ones. There is no balance between population growth and the available opportunities.

Environmentally speaking, the destruction of forests, extinction of species of flora and fauna, spreading of deserts, over-grazing of grasslands, rapid soil erosion and siltation, salinity, rapid lowering of water tables, pollution of air and water, phenomental growth of slums, food and fire-wood shortages and the crises in energy generation and water resources have averome implication of devastation and destruction of the life support systems. In some cases these are beyond repair.

In a world moving towards working out an optimum human carrying capacity of given regions, based on a population, resource and development inter-relationship, an already densely populated nation like India can hardly expect to achieve a quality of life by adding further to her numbers

From optimistic Governmental projections, if by the year 2000 A.D. the contraception acceptance rate of all fertile couples is raised from the present level of 30 per cent to 60 per cent, the birth rate will thereafter correspondingly drop from 36 per thousand as of today to 21 yer thousand in the year 2000 A.D. and the death rate will drop from 13 per thousand to 9 per thousand during the period. By achieving this goal, the 'Net Reproduction Rate' would come down to one and the average annual population growth rate to 1.25 per cent. Accepting the capabilities of attaining this projection, the population of India will reach 965 millions by the turn of the century. Thereafter, to bring the average annual population growth rate to zero within a time frame, the contraception acceptance rate of all fertile couples will have to be substantially enhanced which in itself is a herculean task after attaining 60 per cent. acceptability. Very optimistically if zero population growth rate is attained by the later half of the 21st century, the population would stabilise at around 1400 millions. It is more likely that zero population growth rate will be attained in the 22nd century when the population would have risen to 1800 millions.

The laudable goals spelt out in the Directive Principles of State Policy in the Constitution of India can best be achieved if the population explosion is checked.

The provisions of the Bill are, therefore, the most effective method to achieve the targeted goal, of net reproduction rate of one by 1995 instead of attaining it in 2000 A. D. It is estimated that at the rate we are going, we shall reach the goal of 'Net Reproduction Rate of one not in the year 2000 but in the year 2010. In that case, the enactment of this Bill shall hasten the process by 15 years. By so doing, we could reach zero population growth rate by the 21st century instead of the 22nd century and we could stabilise our population at around 1200 millions instead of at 1800 millions. Therefore, the enactment of this Bill will save the country from a burden of 600 millions additional population.

The Bill offers a comprehensive package deal of facing the challenge and overcoming the problem. There is no other effective way of doing so.

To enable this Bill to have an impact on all sections of the society, the State Governments will have to be moved to introduce corresponding legislation, particularly amending the Panchayat Act, Municipal Act, Cooperative Societies Act, State Civil Service (Conduct) Rules and other related laws, in their State Legislatures.

New Delhi; April 16, 1985. DIGVIJAY SINH

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 8 of the Bill provides for payment of three months additional salary to woman employees of the Central Government or of public undertakings as an incentive in case the woman undergoes sterilisation operation after the birth of her first or second child. Clause 9 provides that any person having one or two children if undergoes sterilisation operation shall be eligible to receive advance from a bank or a society at a ten per cent, lower rate of interest than the normal rate of interest. Clause 10 provides that any person below the age of thirty-two years, who has only one or two living daughters, if undergoes sterilisation operation, shall be given by the Central Government a bond of the face value of rupees one lakh which shall be encashable after a period of twenty years from the date of issue. The Bill, therefore, if enacted, will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is likely to involve a recurring expenditure of about rupees one hundred and fifty crores per annum.

It is also likely to involve a non-recurring expenditure of rupees fifty lakhs.
